DISABILITY SERVICES

More than just good business

Creative Opportunities is an Australian Disability Enterprise within The Salvation Army.

Our mission is to secure meaningful employment and training opportunities for people with disabilities through the development of a viable and sustainable community business.

We manufacture a variety of timber products including:

- Furniture components
- Specialised timber packaging as well as other various packing processes.

Competitive price, commitment to service deadlines, as well as fast, efficient and reliable service have made us a popular choice for a wide variety of products and processes.

As labour service, to a range of industries, our objectives are to:

- Increase the work skills of people with disabilities through individual training programmes
- Promote active participation within the general workforce and wider community
- Ensure ongoing business from satisfied customers

We provide a work environment that exhibits enjoyment, fulfilment, acceptance and respect, whilst recognising the contribution that all employees make to our desired future.

Craig's Story...

Craig began work at Creative Opportunities in November 2012. Having just completed a work preparation programme it was his first step into 'real' employment.

"I love working at Creative Opportunities. I've made lots of new friends and learnt new skills. If I didn't have this job to keep me busy I don't know what I'd be doing. Getting paid helps me keep a roof over my head."

Since beginning work Craig has increased his hours and now works 3 days a week. Craig's self-confidence and motivation to take on responsibilities have flourished. He is an active member of both the Employee Representative Committee and Occupational Health and Safety Committee.
